Organizer : Cabin Crawl & Poker Run*

What	A cabin crawl is when a bunch of cruisers pick a time to visit each others cabins. Some people do them to get to see a variety of stateroom types (suites, balconies, insides, etc.). They're often done during sea days, but pick any time. Announce a place and time for everyone to meet. It helps if someone coordinating the event schedules an order in which to visit the cabins (and brings the list with them!). Then just follow the leader from one cabin to another.
How	You need: at least 5 cabins (different types, decks) and a deck of cards for each cabin, and Score Card for each person You arrange to meet in one of the bars to start the game. Each person puts $XX in the pool and you choose someone to hold the money until the end of the game. Explain that the person with the best hand and the worst hand will split the pot. On the first cabin! At the first cabin, and four other cabins thereafter, each person picks a card, writes down the card they chose on their score card and returns the card to the deck. While people are picking their cards everyone is "touring" the cabin, chatting and laughing! It is so much fun to see all the different types of cabins!
Planning	Ask people 'who is interested in showing their cabin?'. Usually try to get only one of each different type cabin. Organize it by deck levels if possible. Keep a list of those interested in showing as well as just attending. Usually done it after the Meet and Greet.

* - The poker aspect does not need to be included.

 - Money does not need to be used, but some sort of prize should be offered.

Cabin Crawl & Poker Run

A Cabin Crawl is a group event that usually starts at a Bar/Lounge on the ship. It is basically a tour of various cabins in various locations on the ship. The cabins on Cabin Crawl are hosted by very gracious members of this group that have volunteered to open their cabin for viewing during the Cabin Crawl. Hopefully, seeing these various cabins will help you when selecting a cabin on a future cruise.

We also use the Cabin Crawl for the Poker Run. Each Poker Run participant to draw one card. Each of these 5 Cabin Hosts will use each Poker Run participant's score sheet to record the card they drew. Then the drawn card is discarded. After visiting all the cabins, everyone on the Cabin Crawl/Poker Run usually returns to a Bar/Lounge for Poker settlement and social time.

Once we have a list of hosted cabins, the cabin order will be set and will indicate the 5 cabins having Poker Run cards.
